- Based on ICD-0-3 reportable malignancies
- Available as Appendix A of FORDS and SEER fold-out table
- Effective with diagnoses 2001-2009
- Indicates whether two hematopoietic diseases (such as a lymphoma and a leukemia) diagnosed separately and coded in ICD-O-3 should be considered the same primary (S) or different primaries (D).

2014 UPDATE SEER Hematopoietic and Lymphoid Neoplasm Database and Coding Manual

- For cases diagnosed 01/01/2010 and forward
- <http://www.seer.cancer.gov/tools/heme/>
- Changes made do not require registrars to recode old cases
- Previous 2010/2012 versions of the database and manual are no longer available
 - Both the 2010 and 2012 databases and manuals have been combined into one database and coding manual which incorporates all of the 2014 changes
- The database format has changed. Please review the following document to assist you in navigating the new database:
 - Users Guide for NCI's Online Hematopoietic and Lymphoid Database
- The Hematopoietic and Lymphoid Neoplasm Coding Manual is no longer accessible from the database's home page
 - To access the coding manual, open the database and select one of the current codes (not an obsolete code). Click on the link to open the information for that code. Find the "Help me code for dx year." The year must be 2010 or forward (default is 2014 for current codes). Under that will be the link to coding manual. Click on the link and open the manual. At that time you can save a copy of the PDF to your computer. If you choose years 2001-2009, the information for coding multiple primaries applicable for those years will appear.
