TEACHING EXPERIENCE AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Course, Fellowship or CE Directorships

- 1/2001 – 12/2005 Clinical Training Director, offering CE/CME, professional development, and instruction for LSUHSC pediatricians, psychiatrists, nurses, psychologists, and social workers affiliated with the Juvenile Justice Program and the Louisiana Office of Youth Development healthcare clinics. Responsibilities included the development and delivery of curricula on the following topics: Family Systems Approach; Cognitive Behavioral Treatment; Motivational Interviewing; Experiential Group Therapy; Management the Driving Force: Leadership & Change Management; Verbal De-escalation & the Psychology of Behavior; Adolescent Development; Crisis Intervention & Prevention (Suicide); Mandatory Reporting; Causes of Delinquency; Basic Training on Mental Health; Accommodations for Seriously Mentally Ill, Mentally Retarded, and Developmentally Disabled; Confidentiality; and Casework & the Team Approach.
- 1/2004 – 5/2005 Co-Coordinator and lecturer for Department of Psychiatry- Forensic Psychiatry Series. Responsibilities included development and coordination of ten session lecture series and presentation to LSUHSC Psychiatry Residents.
- 8/2011 – present Annual Course Director- BCHS 7202- Health Behavior Change (3 credit hours). This is an advanced PhD level course on theoretical and practical aspects of health behavior change. The course is designed to provide and understanding of theoretical issues and current methodologies influencing health behavior change. Several models of health behavior change are studied in detail. The strengths and shortcomings of these models for the development and evaluation of interventions at individual, community and system levels are critically assessed. Students are expected to translate their knowledge into practical interventions for health behavior change.
- 6/2012 – present Annual Course Director- BCHS 7352- Mental Health Promotion in Community Health Sciences (3 credit hours). This course exposes MPH and PhD seeking students to the emerging field of mental health promotion; its history, principles, theories; and its differences and linkages to mental illness prevention. The course objectives are to impart knowledge of the basic - principles of mental health promotion; teach the many factors causal to mental illness and the maintenance of mental health; and afford students an understanding of the complexity and multiplicity of disciplines involved in the practice of mental health promotion.

- 8/2013 – 5/2018 Course Director- BCHS Indep Study- Grantsmanship and Proposal Development (2 credit hours) Independent study to afford PhD students the opportunity to complete and submit a federal grant application related to their research interest under the guidance of their major advisor.
- 6/2015 – present Annual Course Director- BCHS 7410- CHS Teaching Practicum (2 credit hours). This course provides PhD students with supervised teaching experience to develop their pedagogical skills. This experience will come primarily from serving in the role of teaching assistants for Behavioral and Community Health Sciences courses. Developmental workshops and materials offered by the LSU Health Sciences Center's Academy for the Advancement of Educational Scholarship will be incorporated as part of the training experience.
- 1/2016 – present BCHS Faculty Representative and Student Presentations Reviewer - PUBH 6600- Culminating Experience Course (3 credit hours). This course provides MPH students a team, multi-disciplinary approach to synthesizing and integrating knowledge acquired in coursework and other learning experiences as they apply theory and principles in situations that approximate some aspects of professional practice before graduation.
- 8/2017 – 3/2020 LSUHSC IPE Group Facilitator & Core Content Instructor for Motivational Interviewing. This university-wide interdisciplinary course provides all LSUHSC students with common instruction, activities, and assignments to expose them to higher-level practice skills and teamwork needed to approach critical healthcare needs of the 21st century.
- 8/2019 – 5/2020 Albert Schweitzer Fellowship Academic Mentor for MD/MPH student Jessica Seay. Project is to develop a mentorship program for children with behavioral health problems in a New Orleans public/charter school. The mission of the Schweitzer Fellowship is to develop "leaders in service": individuals who are dedicated and skilled in addressing the health needs of underserved communities, and whose example influences and inspires others. This is done, under the supervision of a Site Mentor and Academic Mentor, through designing and implementing a service project of at least 200 hours that addresses an unmet community health need.
- 5/2021 – present Annual Course Director- BCHS 6211- Integration of Social Work and Public Health (1 credit hour). This course is designed to integrate public health competencies for dual degree MSW/MPH students also studying human behavior and health theories in the Social Work program (e.g. SW 7001, 7002, 7009). Students will apply a public health and population lens to what they have learned in understanding complex interactions between individuals and the many systems (cultural, biological, psychological, physical and social) that make an impact on human behavior. Students will relate public health concepts to introductory knowledge of the importance and use of behavioral theories in designing, implementing and evaluating public health interventions. Students will examine public health and social science theories in light of the impact of class, poverty, location, sexism, ageism, physical ability, ethnicity, and culture.
